Mary Ann Demos is the Supervising Editor and Paralegal at Van Dermymden Makus. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Clinical Science with a Minor in Chemistry, cum laude, from San Francisco State University.

Prior to joining the Firm in early 2014, Mary Ann held positions as a Clinical Scientist and Laboratory Supervisor in a private medical laboratory for ten years, founded and ran a successful freelance proofreading/copy-editing service, and raised two children. She uses her attention to detail and love of the written word to put the final touches on investigative reports, correspondence, employee handbooks, surveys, and anything else that lands on her desk.

Mary Ann is a native of Northern California, and loves long road trips up and down the state. In her spare time, she writes both fiction and nonfiction, works her way through a reading list of several hundred books, and spends as much time as she can with her two sons and a pair of rescue cats.
