Sarah Treseler is a Senior Editor with Van Dermyden Makus Law Corporation. She earned her dual Bachelors of Arts in English and French, cum laude, from Seattle University. Prior to joining the Firm, Sarah worked in various writing and editing roles for a startup company in Novato, California, as well as a magazine in Santa Rosa.

Constantly drawn to both writing and language, Sarah spent her first year after graduating from Seattle University working as an English teaching assistant in Château-Thierry, France. As an undergraduate, she studied French language and literature at Université Stendhal in Grenoble. In her spare time, she enjoys reading, writing fiction, and traveling.
